PORT HILLS/TAI TAPU FIRES: UPDATE 6.30pm

Rural Fire and NZ Police held a briefing at 4pm today at which it was confirmed that a fatal helicopter crash had occurred involving one of the helicopter crew involved in fighting these fires.

Principal Rural Fire Officer Douglas Marshall says the incident was a tragedy. “Those involved in fighting fire on the ground and in the air make a huge contribution to keeping our community safe, often at considerable risk, and our thoughts are with the family, the helicopter company and the other pilots working on this operation.”

The current situation with the fires are that the Marley Hill Fire remains contained, although ground crews are monitoring activity along the Summit Road.

Significant effort put into the Early Valley fire today has resulted in it being effectively contained, although there are some spots of fire burning downhill from the ridgeline above Governors Bay and Allandale. The New Zealand Fire Service is undertaking active structure protection in this area. Helicopters will continue to operate until nightfall tonight and from first light tomorrow.

No further structures have been lost beyond those reported earlier.

The area of both fires combined is currently estimated at approximately 580 hectares.

Overnight, three ground crews will patrol the Early Valley fire and a fourth crew will patrol the Summit Road area. These crews are also available for immediate response.
