Dear Road Mum

As I travel to work each day I see many drivers without their car lights on. With the increased morning fog we have had recently, I am concerned that these cars are not easily seen by others and may cause a crash. How hard can it be to drive with your lights on?

Grey Daze

Dear Grey

You are absolutely right, it is actually very easy to drive with your lights on. "Turn on your lights in fog" is one of my favourite winter driving tips in fog, but it is also a great idea in rain and at dusk and dawn. I also have seen many drivers out there that don't have their lights on, or should I say I have "struggled to see" them.

Well done Grey, keep using your lights. When other drivers see your lights on, it can sometimes remind them to put theirs on too!

Drive safe, Road Mum

Sections available in Selwyn

Selwyn District is one of the fastest growing districts in New Zealand.

We have been planning for this growth for a number of years as a partner in the Greater Christchurch Urban Development Strategy (UDS).

As a result of the Canterbury earthquakes, and subsequent government decisions on red-zoned land in Greater Christchurch, land for housing is a primary consideration for Councils throughout Greater Christchurch.

Council's Plan Change 7 to rezone more than 800 hectares of land for future residential development in 2010 (before the Canterbury earthquakes) is now complete with land rezoned for residential use and available for developers to subdivide to provide sections for the market.

We are working with developers to ensure that subdivision consents are processed as quickly as possible.

Visit www.selwyn.govt.nz/landavailability to see where available sections are located, how many in subdivisions, and who to talk to if you're interested in purchasing a section.
