					Safe and suitable public access cannot always be provided to and along every part of every waterbody in the District. Some areas have sensitive ecological or cultural values which may be compromised by public access. Some areas are surrounded by private property and people's security or privacy may be unduly compromised. In addition, there is little value in spending resources trying to create public access to areas where there is no demand or where there is no public access from a formed legal road to the esplanade reserve or strip. Therefore, the plan provisions do not seek to provide esplanade reserves or strips upon any subdivision of land adjoining any waterbody but adopts a strategic approach to maintaining or enhancing public access to and along lakes, river and the coast.
